Clinical Negligence

Selected Cases

- A young lady with children who died as a result of negligently performed surgery. Adrian represented the interests of her husband and family from the Coroner's Inquest through to negotiation of settlement of the compensation claim.
- Achieved a £300,000 payment for a lady who suffered significant permanent disability as a result of negligent treatment after a total knee replacement. The money was to go towards future care and adaptations to the home.

- Adrian pursued a claim against three defendants for a lady who had been incorrectly diagnosed with breast cancer and underwent unnecessary surgery resulting in permanent disfigurement. He achieved a significant settlement figure without the need to attend court.
